INFORMATION ON THE PROCESSING OF PERSONAL DATA

The Controller and Controller Contact Details

The Controller of personal data is KUKE with its registered office in Warsaw, at ul. Krucza 50, 00-025 Warsaw, hereinafter referred to as the "Controller". Contact with the Controller is possible via email: odo@kuke.com.pl or in writing to the address of the registered office provided above.

Aim and Grounds for Data Processing

Your personal data can be processed for the following purposes:

- Necessary to execute the Agreement concluded with you or to take the actions requested by you before the conclusion of the Agreement (legal grounds: Article 6.1(b) of the GDPR), in particular to:
 - Prepare an offer, carry out insurance risk assessment, calculate the cost of the Agreement, and handle and execute the Agreement;
 - Settle a claim (provided that such has been submitted), including handling a submitted claim, issuing an appropriate decision in the scope of the disbursement of compensation or other benefits – subject to the Agreement and the provisions of the law;
- Fulfil the legal obligations of the Controller resulting from the applicable and binding provisions on the insurance and reinsurance company (legal grounds: Article 6.(c) of the GDPR), particularly to fulfil the obligations concerning carrying out activities, that is: crime prevention and detection, establishing technical insurance provisions for solvency and accounting purposes, including statistical purposes, and determining the percentage utilisation rate laid down in the Budget Law, the limit that total liabilities under export credit insurance guaranteed by the State Treasury cannot exceed, and accounting, subject to the rules on accounting;
- Process applications and complaints, pursue recourse claims resulting from legitimate interests executed by the Controller, including risk reinsurance, take actions related to the prevention of insurance crimes, take possible actions relating to counteracting the disbursement of undue benefits or compensation, carry out customer satisfaction surveys, possibly enforce claims or possibly defend against claims related to the concluded Agreement, information provided to the clients on the insurance products and other financial products offered by KUKE through the direct marketing of products and services (legal grounds: Article 6.1(f) of the GDPR);
- Direct marketing of own products and services of the Controller, in the event of an Agreement not being concluded or after its termination and in order to convey to KUKE Finance with its registered office in Warsaw, for the purpose of the direct marketing of the products and services of this company, pursuant to the consents for the processing of personal data for such purposes (legal grounds: Article 6.1(a) of the GDPR).

Should you be an employee or representative of a client/undertaking that is a party to the agreement, the Controller can process your data in order to conclude and execute the Agreement with the company that you represent/which you work for/which you cooperate with, including for the purpose of ongoing contact and confirmation of the instructions and orders made via a dedicated customer website and for the purpose of creating and handling the accounts of the user on a dedicated customer website (legal grounds: Article 6.1(f) of the GDPR).

Storage Period for Data

The data stored in connection with the execution of the Agreement can be processed by us up to the execution of the rights and obligations resulting therefrom, including the claims limitation period, as well as recourse claims. The data processed to fulfil the legal obligations to which the Controller is subject may be processed within the terms laid down in the provisions imposing such obligation(s). The data processed subject to the legitimate interests of the Controller may be processed until the legitimate interests of the Controller constituting the grounds for such processing have been fulfilled or until you raise an objection against such processing, with the exception of the situation when the Controller shall demonstrate the existence of valid legitimate grounds for the processing that take precedence over your interests, rights, and freedoms, or the grounds to establish, exercise, and defend claims.

Rights of the Data Subject

- The right to access personal data and the right to rectify, erase or limit their processing;
- The right to raise an objection to the address of the Controller, particularly against the processing of personal data for direct marketing purposes, including profiling in the scope in which the grounds for the processing of personal data are a premise for the legitimate interests of the Controller;
- The right to withdraw such consent in the scope in which the grounds for the processing of personal data constitutes consent;
- The right to transfer personal data, that is, to receive your personal data from the Controller in a structured, commonly used format in machine readable form (in so far as this shall apply), including also to possibly transfer such data to another data controller;
- The right to lodge a complaint to the supervisory authority (Polish Personal Data Protection Office) handling data protection affairs.

Data Transfers

Your personal data can be transferred to:

- The providers of IT systems and IT services, undertakings providing legal, debt collection, analytical or insurance outsourcing services to the Controller;
- Reinsurers;
- Authorities authorised to receive your data subject to the provisions of the law;
- KUKE Finance with its registered office in Warsaw.

The Transfer of Data Outside the European Economic Area

Your personal data may, in justified cases, taking into account the requirements laid down in the provisions of the law, be transferred to recipients located in states outside the European Economic Area.

Information on the Requirement to Provide Personal Data

The provision of personal data is voluntary but necessary for the Agreement to be concluded and executed; however, the provision of personal data for marketing purposes is voluntary.
